

Inuit women have both the right to access and the right to choose culturally safe sexual and reproductive health care services.

Inuit women deserve respect and protection. The return of traditional midwifery to Inuit communities will ensure these rights are upheld.

Governments must uphold these rights by supporting the return of Inuit midwifery services to communities across Inuit Nunangat.

The return of sustainable and traditional Inuit practices and education programs is one of Pauktuutit's top priorities.

pauktuutit.ca/health/maternal-health/midwifery

IT'S YOUR RIGHT!

Contact your elected representative at all levels of government and ask for the return of midwifery services and education programs to your community.

